

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 24—Cotton futures opened steady. May 18.68; July 18.14; October 17.53; December 17.19; January 17.27 offered.

ALBANY-DECATUR DAILY

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS AND UPBUILDING OF ALBANY-DECATUR

"THE GATEWAY TO ALABAMA"

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 24—Alabama; Fair tonight; warmer in east and south portions. Thursday cloudy and slightly colder in north portions.

VOLUME No. XIV.

ALBANY-DECATUR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24, 1926

NUMBER 20

POWER COMPANY CHIEF TO VISIT TWIN CITIES

COMMITTEEMEN ASK PATTERSON TO OPEN CAMPAIGN APRIL 5TH

Leading Candidate To Define Issues Of Political Race

CONFIRMATION NOW AWAITED

Every Section Of The County Asked To Be Present

Andrew Patterson, Alabama's leading gubernatorial candidate, will be asked to launch his campaign in his home county of Morgan on the evening of Monday, April 5, it was determined today by committeemen working in the interest of Mr. Patterson in his home county and determined upon polling the largest vote for the home candidate that has ever been received in the county by a candidate.

Mr. Patterson is being informed today of the determination reached by the local committee of which Charles T. Rountree is chairman. The Princess theater will likely be settled upon for the evening meeting at which time Mr. Patterson will tell home folks of his campaign issues and the service he will give after he is given the highest honor his state can confer.

While committeemen have not worked out details of the April 5 gathering fully, it is intended that a musical program will precede Mr. Patterson's address. It is likely that only two speakers will be heard on this occasion, the leading candidate and the Morgan countian who is chosen to present Mr. Patterson to his own home people.

The committee in charge of arrangements will work toward having citizens from every precinct in this county present. Efforts will likewise be made to have all North Alabama counties represented in the audience that will hear Mr. Patterson in stressing the issues upon which he hopes to reach the governors chair.

Definite information containing Mr. Patterson's acceptance if in conformance with other plans, will be received within the next few days, at which time the committee will redouble efforts towards swinging Morgan county into the Patterson column with the largest majority ever given a candidate in this county.

In Bandit Net

MARGARET & RICHARD WHITEMORE

New York police were attempting to lay crimes committed in twelve cities to a group of six men and a woman, arrested in a fashionable hotel. The leader of the sextet is said to be Richard Whittemore, who, the police say, escaped from the Baltimore Penitentiary. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Whittemore, was also held when police claim they found three pistols in her trunk.

CREWS SPEAKS AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

Woodruff Is Unable To Fill Engagement Here This Week

C. W. Woodruff, now of Chattanooga, but formerly minister of the Church of Christ here, who has been conducting a series of services at that church this week, is ill and will be unable to continue his engagement here, it was announced today.

Thornton Crews, minister of the church, will fill the pulpit this evening, after which the special series of nightly services will be discontinued. Monday and Tuesday evenings large congregations heard the inspiring messages brought by the speaker. The church was dedicated Sunday at special services, which were followed by the week-day services. The new building occupied by the congregation of the Church of Christ is one of the most attractive edifices in this section.

Blaze Destroys Steamer; 104 Die In Amazon River

(Associated Press)

LONDON, March 24.—A dispatch to Lloyd's from Manaus, Brazil, today reports that 104 lives were lost in the destruction of the Brazilian steamer, Paes de Carvalho, by fire on the Amazon river.

The steamer was bound from Manaus for Torijuna. She carried a full cargo, including inflammable goods. The disaster occurred March 22, near Coury.

OPPORTUNITY SEEN FOR DEMOCRATS TO CONTROL CONGRESS

Oldfield Stirs Party In Maine By Address at Convention

CHARGES PUBLIC TIRED OF G. O. P.

Tariff To Be Principal Issue Of Party In Fall Elections

(Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Maine, March 24.—Not since the days of the Wilson administration have the democrats had a better chance to win control of congress than in the next election, Congressman William A. Oldfield, of Arkansas told the delegates to the democratic Maine state convention here today.

"The people," he said, "are becoming sick of the present plutocratic administration with its unfilled promises and pledges. The dollar, under republican rule, is worth only 61 cents, at least 20 cents lower than it has been at any time during the past 35 years and the value of the average citizen's dollar has decreased correspondingly."

"I deny that the country is experiencing general prosperity. I deny that the administration is practicing the strictest economy."

"The outstanding issue of our party is the tariff. We advocate a downward revision of the Fordney-McCumber rate to a point where we will have a competitive revenue tax. We insist that in doing this we will not only aid agriculture, but will help business conditions generally. Other issues upon which we shall go before the country include the do-nothing attitude of the republican congress and administration; the abuse of his appointing power by the President and the complete domination of the administration by the ultra-rich and heavy campaign contributors to the republican party."

"The anthracite coal strike could have and should have been stopped long before it was."

SLAYER OF TAYLOR TO BE KNOWN SOON

Four Weeks Probe Of Mystery Death Near An End

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 24.—Solution of the mysterious murder in 1922 of William Desmond Taylor famous motion picture director at Hollywood, Calif., today was said to be imminent by Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles county.

"We know who killed Taylor four weeks ago, but this eastern trip was for the purpose of getting corroborative evidence," Mr. Keyes was quoted by the Herald and Examiner as saying.

Armed with information gathered through four weeks of investigation, Los Angeles officials planned to return to the coast within a few days, with possibility several women, whose names have been mentioned in the case will be questioned further.

Mr. Keyes said the public would be surprised at the facts.

COTTON PLANTING ALREADY STARTED IN SOUTH ALABAMA

East of the Mississippi Much Preparation Accomplished

WORK IN STATE IS PROGRESSING

Peach Crop Very Much Thinned Out By Recent Freezes

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 24.—East of the Mississippi river considerable preparation of seed beds for cotton was accomplished during the week, although this work still is backward in many places, the department of agriculture said today in its weekly review of conditions in Southern states.

Some cotton was planted in extreme Southern Alabama, but planting was delayed in eastern Texas, but wet soil and this work was practically at a standstill in Louisiana.

In the Western belt a little cotton was planted as far north as Southern Arkansas. Garden and truck crops made fairly good progress although there was considerable damage to truck by last week's freeze in Florida and some injury to spring planting by heavy rainfall in the west gulf section.

Conditions in Alabama: Farm work progressed well in most sections, planting cotton and corn beginning in South. Oats poor to fairly good progress, potatoes being planted, some coming up; bedding sweets continued. Truck crops fair progress. Peach crop considerably thinned out by freeze.

Sniper Sentenced To Death In Chair

(Associated Press)

OMAHA, Neb., March 24.—Frank Carter, sniper bandit, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair at the Nebraska penitentiary July 9 for the murder of Dr. A. D. Searles.

Today:

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1926 By The Star Co. For Albany-Decatur Daily.

In offering Mr. Brisbane's daily editorials The Albany-Decatur Daily does not necessarily concur with his opinions, but offers them as the sentiments of the highest paid editorial writer in this country.

LADIES that would be thinner—middle-aged gentlemen, too—if they'd take the sunshine cure, listen to Mary Garden.

That able singing lady, before she sailed for Europe yesterday, drank a farewell glass or two of champagne in "dry" America, discoursing thus:

"Doctors said I needed an operation. I didn't want any. I was gaining in weight, I didn't want that. I have my villa on the edge of the Mediterranean. In the morning, I put on my bathing suit and swim out half a kilometer. My man rows out to me in a little boat and swims back to the shore, leaving me alone in my glory."

FIRST CARLOAD OF EQUIPMENT PLACED AT LOCAL BRICK CO.

Ten Acres Of Clay Is Obtained In New Expansion

$50,000 SPENT ON IMPROVEMENT

Decatur Brick Company Enlarging Facilities For Output

The first carload of the four carloads of machinery ordered for the Decatur Brick Corporation, as part of its plans for expansion, is being placed at the plant today, and the other cars will follow in short order.

The first car included the giant excavator, which has capacity sufficient to dig enough clay for the manufacture of 175,000 bricks daily.

It became known also today that the Decatur Brick Corporation has purchased ten more acres of clay to add to its present holdings.

The improvements are a part of the $50,000 expansion program inaugurated recently by the company and still underway. When completed, the local plant will be one of the finest brick product manufacturing plants in the South, it is stated.

Building For Future
"We believe in this community," declared Earnest L. Morrow, local manager of the company, "but we are looking to the future a bit in the installation of our new equipment. We believe that the Tennessee Valley someday will be a great industrial section and we are preparing to care for future growth, as well as present demands on the plant."

As rapidly as the new machinery arrives, it will be put in place and the plant is expected to be ready for operation on a full-time basis, utilizing the new equipment, within a short time. A large crew has been engaged in the task of preparing the necessary buildings for the machinery.

Sentenced

RALPH T. COURSEY

Handcuffed, en route to jail, Ralph T. Coursey, of Towson, Md., posed for his picture before beginning an eighteen-year term in jail for killing his five-year-old foster son, Eldridge.

DAVID L. MARSHALL CONVICTED BY JURY

Slayer Of Philadelphia Woman Given Term In Penitentiary

(Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—David L. Marshall was convicted of murder in the second degree today for the killing of Anna May Dietrich. The verdict carries with it a penalty of from 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

The jury was out more than 13 hours. Reports had preceded the jury to the courtroom that it had reached a second degree verdict but the delay in making its report made court officials apprehensive that it had not agreed.

There was no demonstration when the verdict was rendered. Marshall received the verdict with an almost impassive countenance.

A barely perceptible flicker of emotion crossed his face when the foreman pronounced the words which, unless a new trial reverses the present decision, will bring him a sentence of 10 to 20 years.

Abraham Wernick, council for Marshall, announced he would ask for a new trial.

Booze Graft Plan Charged In House

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 24.—A charge that Franklin Dodge, formerly an investigator of the department of justice, has attempted to dispose of $200,000 worth of liquor permits taken from George Remus, convicted Cincinnati bootlegger, was made in the house today by Representative LaGuardia, socialist, New York. The representative charged that "John Gray of Cleveland offered to give George W. Wallenstein, of 30 Broad street, New York City, certificates covering $200,000 worth of liquor, the property of George Remus."

PRESIDENT MARTIN MAY EXPLAIN OFFER FOR SHOALS PLANTS

He Will Be Speaker At Kiwanis Club's Noon Luncheon

BURNS IS HEARD BY COMMITTEE

Ordinance Expert Says Nitrogen Industry Should Be First

Unusual interest is attached to the scheduled visit here Thursday of Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power company, who is expected to be the guest of the Twin Cities for one day, during which time he is scheduled to deliver an address before the Albany-Decatur Kiwanis club at noon.

Developments recounted in press dispatches from Washington indicate that the Alabama Power company soon is to make a bid for Muscle Shoals and it was wondered here if President Martin would outline, while on his local visit, what the terms of the proposal will be.

Under the administration of President Martin, the Alabama Power company has continued its remarkable growth and extension, now serving the greater part of the state. He is regarded as one of the best informed power students in the nation and his address here is anticipated with a great deal of pleasure.

Power Company to Bid
The intention of the Power company to make an offer for Muscle Shoals was reflected in the following dispatch to The Daily today from Washington by the Associated Press:

The Alabama Power company informed the Muscle Shoals joint congressional committee that it was interested in leasing Muscle Shoals and asked for a conference within a few days.

This is the first information the committee has received from the company and was in response to a telegram sent to Thomas W. Martin, president of the corporation, advising him the committee was ready to receive him.

Major Burns, of the army ordnance department, told the committee that he believed Muscle Shoals should be held in a stand-by condition until the production of nitrogen was established in this country as the manufacture of steel now is.

The precaution, he said, is necessary to assure ammunition for national defense in time of war. The committee did not get to the farm organization representatives, who had been expected to testify yesterday, and they will be heard today.

No new proposals were submitted and the commission will sit each day until April 26, when it is required by the resolution, under which it is operating, to report recommendations to congress.

Eighteen bids are in prospect.

Georgia Declines To Commute Verdict

(Associated Press)

ATLANTA, March 24.—The Georgia prison commission today refused to recommend commutation of the sentence of Ted L. Coggeshall, Clayton, Ill., and Floyd McClelland, Brockton, N. Y., to life imprisonment.

The two young men now are at Milledgeville under sentence of execution Friday for the murder a year ago of Professor W. C. Wright, superintendent of Putnam county schools. The governor now will pass finally on the case.

Start The Daily's New Thrilling Romance, "Miss Nobody," Beginning Thursday Afternoon

Whimsically and wistfully she took inventory of her beautiful self and found Youth, Beauty, Charm, and One Dime. Thus equipped—friendless and alone—she started down the broad highway of Life. The strangest, most thrilling story of a girl's adventures you will ever read, "MISS NOBODY"—somebody you will want to know. She hadn't a friend in the world, no one to turn to and only a dime in her pocket—that was all. Yet, she sat down and took inventory of herself as coolly as though all the world's possessions were hers.

Unusual?—Miss Nobody is the strangest, most astounding story of Her Impudent Majesty, the girl of today, you have ever had the opportunity to read. It is one of the most adventurous romances ever published for our readers.

"Miss Nobody" is clean, sparkling with the wine of life. It starts in high speed and races through its chapters without ever abating its breath taking tempo. Miss Nobody will find favor with all classes of Daily readers, her ideas will please, her adventures will thrill, just another story of the Modern Girl, another "Joanna."

This story begins with the last installment of Satan in Sables, Daily serial which has been pleasing through the past month. The Daily is happy to offer Miss Nobody, realizing that the Twin Cities and Morgan county will be glad to read such a story, a story that is told in the language you speak and in the way you speak it. If you have not started The Daily to your home then get on the phone this very afternoon, call Albany 46 and have the paper delivered to your front door, or sent to you through the afternoon mails. Get started today.

SATAN IN SABLES

By Bradley King

Copyright 1935 Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

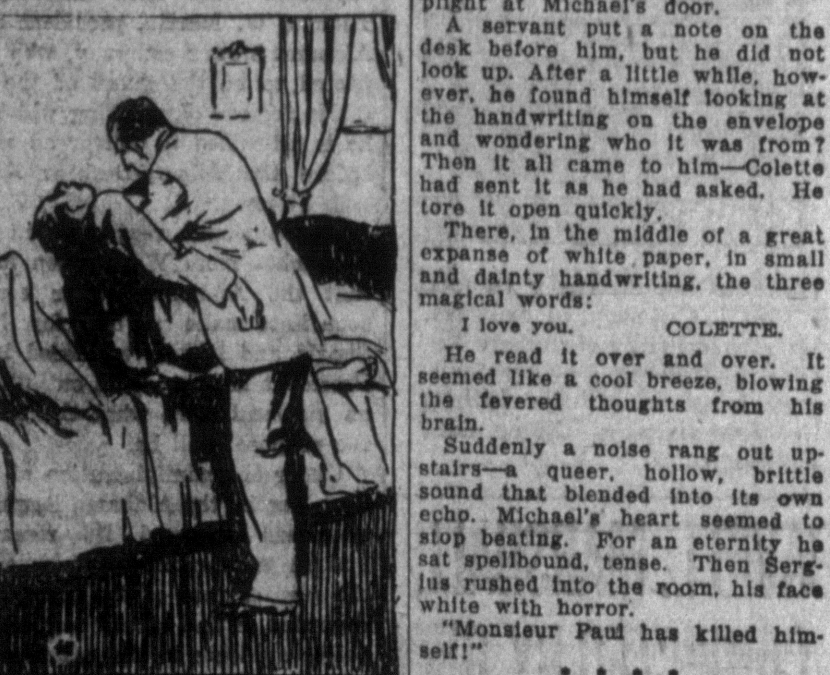

"Satan in Sables" with Lowell Sherman is a picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Prince Michael Yeredoff, wealthy and handsome, falls in love with Colette, an unworldly girl, and rebuilds his worthless interest in life through befriending her. But he is saddened by the wretched condition of his young brother, Paul, who has been cruelly wronged for revenge by Dolores, one of Michael's cost-offs.

CHAPTER XII—Continued

"No," Armand replied quickly. "Dolores went on—The pleasure of being his sister-in-law was denied me by one little trick of fate! Her beautiful face became tigerish. Never have I seen such a look in a woman's eyes. 'The joke,' she said, 'would have been entirely on Monsieur Michael. Tell him that it was through no fault of mine that I did not deliver him this blow. But I have crushed his young brother body and soul. I think that Michael will not have a pleasant time when he witnesses Paul's sufferings, for he was head over heels in love with me. Pray give His Highness that little message, if you will,' she concluded with an ironic smile."

Armand paused for breath. In a moment he went on with all the enthusiasm of the male gossip. "I said to her, 'but why do you not deliver it to him yourself, if I may ask?' I was a little curious as to her reason for using me as a messenger, you know. She just laughed. 'I have not time, for I am about to leave for Spain to be near the only man I really love. I've had enough of Princes and puppy-loves!"

Michael caught him just in time to save him from falling.

Michael sat still for a moment after Armand had concluded his message. Then he moved more to himself, then to his visitor:

"Pretty brutal, wasn't she? I wouldn't have cared if she had attacked me alone, but poor Paul has been the innocent victim all the way through. I've got to do my penance by restoring his happiness and making him forget, but I am afraid that it is going to be hard with him for I know his nature. I wonder how he will act towards me when he awakens?"

"I hope that he will be glad it is all over," Michael said. They talked a little while longer. Then Armand sensed that Michael wanted to be alone, and discreetly took his departure.

Michael remained alone in his library, plunged in thought. "Well, at least I know the truth and thank God that her plans were frustrated and that she has gone," he reflected. "I wonder what the blunder was that prevented her from marrying him? She seems to have laid her plot so well. I am surprised that anything came up to spoil it."

Sergius entered at this moment. "Monsieur Paul is awake, Monsieur," he announced.

Michael went up hurriedly to Paul's bedside. He was shocked at the deadness in Paul's eyes, the ravages of suffering in his face.

"My dear boy, my dear boy!" Michael soothed. "Sergius tells me you don't wish to have any food. Come now, you will feel much better if you'll take some soup. It will brace you up. Then after a refreshing bath, a little later on, you'll feel like a fighting cock again."

Paul stared fixedly at Michael, his eyes bright in that peculiar moment of sensitive lucidity that comes just before insanity or death or complete nervous collapse.

"So you are the one responsible for it all," he said hoarsely, slowly, a faint wave of color staining his cheeks. "I have to go through hell on your account. She said to ask you if it were true or not. She said that you would tell me. Now, is it true? Tell me, damn you, is it true?"

"No, no, Paul, of course not," Michael answered, without the faintest notion of what the question was, his whole thought being to soothe the boy into some semblance of calmness. "Brace up, old fellow!"

"You lie, you lie, I'll kill you!" Paul tried to leap out of bed and at Michael's throat, only to collapse. Michael caught him just in time to save him from falling to the floor.

"Telephone for Doctor Aguessi," he whispered. Sergius, who hovered, frightened and excited, near the door.

The outburst seemed to subdue Paul a little; he lay back staring at the ceiling. Thinking that possibly he might drop off to sleep again, Michael tip-toed out of the room.

Sergius encountered him on the stairs. "The doctor will be over in ten minutes."

Michael nodded, then gave Sergius orders not to go into the bedroom for fear of disturbing Paul but to wait and listen at hand nearby in the hall.

Michael returned to the library and to his brooding over the change in that lad upstairs from a happy, carefree companion, one who always wanted to be with him, one whose company he had always so enjoyed, to a haggard and worn out old man. For Paul looked years and years older. What hurt most was that Paul was poisoned against him and laid his plight at Michael's door.

A servant put a note on the desk before him, but he did not look up. After a little while, however, he found himself looking at the handwriting on the envelope and wondering who it was from? Then it all came to him—Colette had sent it as he had asked. He tore it open quickly.

There, in the middle of a great expanse of white paper, in small and dainty handwriting, the three magical words:

I love you. COLETTE.

He read it over and over. It seemed like a cool breeze, blowing the fevered thoughts from his brain.

Suddenly a noise rang out upstairs—a queer, hollow, brittle sound that blended into its own echo. Michael's heart seemed to stop beating. For an eternity he sat spellbound, tense. Then Sergius rushed into the room, his face white with horror.

"Monsieur Paul has killed himself!"

On a mild, sunny afternoon two months later a man could be seen wandering his way through the narrow paths of the Cemetery du Pere-Lachaise, stopping at length before a tombstone which stood underneath a large willow tree whose leafy branches were spread as though in perpetual benediction on the eternal rest of the one buried there.

The mourner was Michael Yeredoff, upon whom sorrow had laid a heavy hand. The old Michael, the dashing, roistering fellow of the boulevards had completely gone. A quiet, serious man stood in his place. Quiet, because Paul's tragic death had left an indelible mark on him; serious, because he had cast aside his old life and consigned it to oblivion, and now looked resolutely to the future.

After a period of meditation and prayer, Michael slowly retraced his steps toward his car. At least, he was not alone in the world, he reflected, for he had Colette. Also, he had a faithful servant in Decline. For as a result of several long talks Michael had at last succeeded in breaking down Decline's distorted outlook on life with the result that the former Apache chief was now his chauffeur.

"I'll sit up in front with you for I want to chat," said Michael as he got into the car. Decline's face lit with pleasure.

A vision was crystallizing in Michael's mind a thought that had come to him many times before and, lately, had taken definite form and would not be denied.

"Decline," he said after a pause, "I am going to leave Paris for good, very soon, and go to my chateau in Normandy."

"Are you going alone, Monsieur?"

Michael laughed at the anxiety in Decline's voice. "No, indeed. You are a part of my plan. The four of us—"

"Four of us?" Decline broke in, bewildered.

"Why, yes! You, a little boy, a certain young lady, and—"

(To be continued)

Gerald, Lord Kingsale, stood with his head covered in the presence of Queen Victoria.

ALLEGED BANDIT HELD

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 24.—Three witnesses today identified Richard Reese Whitmore, escaped convict from Baltimore, who was arrested here last week as one of the men who robbed an armored car of the Marine Trust company, of Buffalo, N. Y., of $93,000 last October in a hold-up in which two guards were killed.

A classified want ad will sell used household goods quickly and cheaply.

One Man Can Keep Hat On With King

(Associated Press)

LONDON, March 24.—Michael Constantine de Courcy, Baron Kingsale, is the only man in the United Kingdom who may, if he wishes, keep on his hat in the presence of the King.

The peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to

the peer enjoys this curious privilege by virtue of an hereditary prerogative granted to Sir John de Courcy in the reign of King John, for conquering Ulster. History records that this privilege has been exercised five times, the last occasion being 1855 when John de Courcy, successor to the peer enjoys this curious privilege

The Albany-Decatur Daily

418 Second Ave., Albany, Ala.
Published every afternoon, except Sunday, in Albany, Ala., by the
TENNESSEE VALLEY PRINTING COMPANY, INC.
Entered as second-class matter February 26, 1912, at the postoffice at Albany, Ala., July 1, 1917, under Act of March 3, 1879.

W. E. SHELTON Founder-Editor
1912-1924
G. SHELTON Managing Editor
BENJAMIN BLOODWORTH Editor
T. SHEPPARD Business Manager

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published therein.
All rights of re-publication of special dispatches herein are reserved.

Telephone: Local 46 Long distance: 9902

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
By mail, daily, one month .80
By mail, daily, per week .15
By mail, daily, three months $1.50
By mail, daily, six months $2.75
By mail, daily, one year $4.50

12 Years Ago TODAY

From the Daily of March 24, 1914

A Callahan rally will be held at the Masonic Theatre tonight.

Burglars entered the home of L. S. Robinson, 1th Avenue, West, obtaining a gold ring, a revolver and some money.

Dr. T. A. McAmis of Lamar, Miss., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Samuel Blackwell.

Bruce Petney has accepted a position with the Decatur Ice & Coal Co.

Miss Susie Brown, of Cullman, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cassells.

A beautiful vase was raffled last night at the Owl Drug Co., the handiwork of Miss Mary Williams. Mr. Codwen was the winner.

Spring will soon be here and the latent business folks will witness the annual increase in business.

Wonder what's become of the man who was the rage at the neighborhood party when he put on his wife's hat?

Nine men out of ten who have no time for appointments during the day can always hear just one more radio number before going to bed.

North Alabama may have wind and rain storms, but the folks here have no brain storms when they talk optimistically over the future aspect.

Talk may be cheap, but you couldn't convince the radio announcer who kidded State's Attorney Crowe of such a fact exists.

At last some use has been found for those balloon trousers, you can wipe all the grease off the transmission without having to bend your back.

Pessimist said the other day that Tennessee Valley folks think when Ford gets the Shoals that $100 bills will be hanging out on the trees. At that he was not so far ahead of Florida dreams which came true.

CHARLES PRICE ANSWERS THE FINAL SUMMONS

Charles L. Price, engaged here for many years in the law profession, has answered the final summons and gone on into the great unknown, leaving hundreds of sorrowing friends and relatives here and in the surrounding section. Mr. Price, as the writer knew him, was of a kindly and gentle character, thoughtful of those with who he came in contact, God fearing and conscientious in his work. Mr. Price had labored here many years, loyal to his chosen profession and to his people. His friendly attitude, the tolerance of his nature and his congeniality will be missed by those who were happy to meet and greet him in the daily pathways trod by men.

GETTING READY FOR THE EASTER PROMENADE

Twin City folk are preparing for the annual Easter promenade. Increased buying has been noted in Albany-Decatur business establishments, the public taking advantage of the many buying opportunities offered by local merchants. Articles at lower prices where they can be seen and sold with a guarantee. No propaganda is going to put a stop to buying at points other than in these cities, it is going to take the quality merchandise values, which our merchants are now offering, together with the courteous service and the guarantee to be found in local establishments. Buying at home encourages the local merchant to establish better stocks, he can then depend upon volume of trade at a smaller profit margin. Support your cities by supporting the merchants in your cities, they are the backbone of local progress.

SHEFFIELD ADDS TONIC TO THAT FAST GROWING CITY

Whatever steps Sheffield is taking to swing into line with the first tremors of a Muscle Shoals realty boom, she is taking them under the direction of the Tri-Cities Daily and a few other notables who are sold on the Tennessee Valley and the pay dirt that is to be found here.

The Tri-Cities Daily advances the individual theory of advertising, asking that everybody utilize every effort to advertise the Shoals district. Letterheads, road signs, newspapers, automobile tags, anything attached to Sheffield must tell of the Tennessee Valley. Truly the Tri-Cities editor has his head full of good sense. He has no doubt been a witness to the hundreds trailing to Florida, sixty percent who did not know for what nor where they were going. They had read some Florida literature, heard some folks talking about Florida and off to the sunny Southland they trailed.

Listen to this bright bit of timely optimism touching on the Valley climate from the Tri-Cities paper:

Nearly every day someone tells us how better

they feel here than where they came from.

A party of tourists who have been in the district for nearly a week remarked that of all the sections they had visited, few appealed to them as does the Muscle Shoals district and the Tennessee Valley, because of the invigorating atmosphere.

There is something to all of this favorable comment. It should make the people of the Muscle Shoals district and the Tennessee Valley appreciate that they have something of universal appeal that ought to be capitalized.

The sticky, close summers of sections further south and the dry hot spells experienced in sections further north; the damp cutting winters of the lower countries and the biting winds of the north and east can never compete with a section such as this if people, more people knew about it.

Besides there is a blending of scenery with ideal climate here that makes a perfect setting for one who wishes to enjoy the whole day through.

This is something that people everywhere will pay to enjoy. They can't buy it only by going to the places where it exists. That is why this grand beautiful section should be made known to more people.

If every business establishment would include on their stationery something brief about this section, its fine climate, its beauty, and as an ideal place to make a home, it would no doubt rebound to the good of the section by encouraging investigation from other parts of the country.

REVIVAL SERVICES AND BRANCHES OF SERVICE

A religious awakening of the Twin Cities is now well underway, hundreds of people, attracted by the good weather and good pastors in our churches filled church pews on Sunday and continue through the week attending at many of our worthy religious institutions. Revival services are just beginning in the Twin Cities, the summer months always bring about evangelistic campaigns in every section of the cities and practically all over the country, these services harbor nothing but good.

However, there is more than one phase of service that the revival campaign brings to the heart of man and woman. First: There is the appeal to the soul of the individual. There is likely an awakening within the heart, a cherished hope to live a better life, for all men sin, yet the change in heart is the basic principle, the object of the revival campaign. Secondly: There is stirred within the soul of man and woman the desire to aid others. People do not wish to go to less fortunate beings with an air of great benevolence, the "holier-than-thou" attitude.
Such an attitude kills the real purpose of such a call. It is this latter phase of the revival service which the writer believes is of more lasting emphasis than the first. If we are brought into actual contact with sin, or the result of sin, we are deeply impressed, whereas if sin and the result of sin is told to us only in word, then we are not at the foundation.

The revival campaigns now going on in our cities can prove a tremendous aid to all classes of people. There are some classes who will refuse to come, owing to their personal pride. Take for an instance the little chap who said just the other day that she could not attend school because she was not properly dressed. That is more or less a display of pride, through the mother if not original with the child. The real value of the revival services will be felt outside of the regular church-going classes, it is the far reaching result, the helping hand extended into the depths of life that will sum up the value of the campaign. Pastors do not count the success of a revival campaign in the number of people added to the church roles, they rather reflect the good of their campaigns in the actual living of their congregations and the influence of their congregations upon other people.

The Twin Cities are not so unfortunate as the larger cities in that there are a great number of people in destitute circumstances, living in tenement districts unfit even for a fine pig, yet there are conditions within our cities which might be looked into and bettered. If such conditions are corrected, or if even an attempt is made to correct this existing fault, then the revival campaigns have been of far greater worth than if a majority had gone to the various pastors and extended their hands. The pastor's influence is limited, he must necessarily spend his entire time with his congregation, then it is the duty of his congregation to further extend his influence and the teachings of the Master to those still more unfortunate, "For If Ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto Me."

DEVELOPMENT WILL COME WITH OR WITHOUT FORD

The pessimist with his characteristic little hammer is doing his daily dozen. His conjectures however, are mainly of the speculative type. He walks from one corner to the other and howls of the failure of Congress to give Henry Ford the Muscle Shoals properties, when as a matter of fact, there has been no concrete proposal made by the Detroitier yet. This same type of pest believes that unless Ford gets Muscle Shoals that all Valley development will come to a halt, that there will be a dull resounding thud from the Mississippi to the Georgia borders. How far wrong he is.

People of the Tennessee Valley have learned to like the name of Ford, particularly when it is mentioned in connection with the Shoals development project, but in the main our folks will be satisfied with the disposition of the properties so long as they are not placed in hands of an unscrupulous power combine. This latter dark dream we do not believe will come true, we give Congress credit for at least having that much sense. Congress is not going to turn vast power facilities over to an already established monopoly and for that reason we cannot feel that the Shoals development project is in any danger.

The Daily takes the stand that Ford will develop, but Muscle Shoals and the Tennessee Valley is going to develop with or without Ford, in fact the very location of our own cities is mute testimony to the value of this section for industrial location. We have stated heretofore and reiterate our position in the belief that Muscle Shoals disposition will lend great impetus to Valley growth, but we likewise believe that the Tennessee Valley is going to continue to grow whether Congress ever moves another peg toward final disposition. The Daily is as strong an advocate for Shoals disposition as any ardent booster in the Valley, yet we cannot see the sagacity of laying down on the job until Congress takes action. Surely we have learned that Congress moves very slowly and that to gauge a city's pace by the action of Congress means we must adopt a snail's pace. There is no time to wait now, we have been at waiting long enough. Ford or no Ford, Shoals or no Shoals, it remains for Twin City residents, Tennessee Valley citizens, to do the developing, outsiders are going to wait until we make the first step. It's high time we get busy and stop the never ending search for the 75-mile city along the shores of the Tennessee. That city will be built of citizens of the Tennessee Valley when it is brought to the fore, why not start on the inevitable right now?

BLOOD PRESSURE GOES UP UNDER STRAIN

Expert Says More Leisurely Hours Would Tend to Promote Health and to Produce Better Business Results.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

ABOUT the time I think I have written on every conceivable medical subject, along comes a letter begging for an article on some ailment which I may have discussed a dozen times. But, of course, medicine is progressing all the time. What I spoke about last year as a mystery, may be cleared up this year, or next year.

We used to have a good laugh at my house over a reply made by one of our doctor friends. Our boy was sick and this able and generous friend advised a certain line of treatment. "Why," exclaimed the mother, "you told me just the opposite of that only last week!" "Madame," said the doctor, "medicine treads with gigantic strides. We have progressed since then!"

I am happy that this is true. It gives us the hope that cancer, heart disease, Bright's disease and tuberculosis may be wiped out in time. Indeed, the great progress is being made in these ailments and some day they will be conquered.

Yesterday one of the readers of these daily articles wrote me, asking for a statement regarding our habit of "eternally rushing."

My! Don't I wish I could say something to destroy this habit! To do that would be to save the world a tremendous percentage of its suffering.

Can it be that the automobile has had something to do with the habit of our going at lightning speed? Nobody seems willing to cultivate let-surely lives. We go along as if we were late for a train.

"Haste makes waste," is an old adage we have quite forgotten. We have all sorts of accidents in consequence of our hurry.

Surgeons who rush their work and by brilliant strokes impress their onlookers are not always safe operators. I hasten to add that put-tering and fussing, the opposite qualities, are not conclusive proof of skill. But the surgeon who goes ahead no faster than his field is clear and the exactness of his movements can be certain, is the safe surgeon. It never pays to rush.

The tendency to rush things is frequently the result of a sort of chronic brain storm. You get into a perfect stew, your brain is in a whirl, you are in a fever of impatience. You can't get your collar over the button. Your tie won't fall into place. You can't get the books of your dress fastened.

You were cross and flustered before, but the results of your impatience make you worse. In consequence, your heart beats furiously and your blood pressure mounts.

The wonder to me is that more persons do not die of apoplexy. It is a tribute to the master workmanship of Nature that the blood vessels resist the demands made under such circumstances.

Heart disease is on the increase and, in my opinion, one of the reasons for it is the pernicious rushing habit. Hurry, hurry, hurry—no proper rest, ever under the sun, breaks down under the strain.

This bad habit is a foolish one. It is like a man hurrying as fast as he can so his one nail of paint will finish the job. Of course, nothing is gained by haste. More than likely the painter will stumble and spill his supply and certainly the job will be poorly done, even if the paint holds out.

If you would have good health, sanity of thought, foresight, contentment of mind, and long life, you will give up the rushing habit. By settling down to a temperate pace you will increase your effectiveness in everything.

Copyright, 1925, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

why not rob them?"

THE farmer will make the old text read, "put not your faith in politicians or any child of man." Last fall, in Nebraska, when corn was worth 75 cents a bushel, farmers were told, "Don't sell your corn; hold it. The Republican party is planning wonderful things for you, etc., etc."

INNOCENT farmers in Nebraska alone kept 113,000,000 bushels of last year's corn crop. Now it is

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Continued from page one)

are bad for the brain. That is why white men can not endure the sunlight of tropical countries.

THE one danger for Calvin and his re-election prospects in 1928 is the World Court foolishness. And those seeking to push this nation into the League of Nations through the back door of the World Court are the very men that want President Coolidge re-elected.

The third-term tradition is not involved. President Coolidge has been elected only once; 1928 would be his second election. But millions that voted for President Coolidge, as they did for President Harding believing in the promise to keep out of European entanglements, and to run the United States Government for the American people—not for Europe—would bitterly resent treachery in that direction.

The league is an insecure aggregation of nations suspecting and hating each other, a rope of sand.

It is no kindness to President Coolidge to attach his 1928 political wagon to that kind of a rope.

MRS. R. H. CARSON, wife of a Brooklyn clergyman, is dead. Bedridden nearly 20 years, unable to turn her head, she held in her stiffened fingers a small mirror, and, reflected in it, she was able to see a little of the blue sky. Three years ago she wrote: "My Patch of Blue."
It began:

"There's a bit of blue across the street which I have learned to love.

One end of it rests on the housetops high, the other on the heavens above."

The last verse reads:

"But I am sure God's love and Mercy will lead me safely through.
And in my very heart of hearts,
He can put a 'patch of blue.'"

The patient poetess, released at last from her suffering, now has for her home let us hope, the whole blue sky.

We appreciate that which we lack. How many of the earth's sixteen hundred million human beings especially of those that live in cities, ever look at the sky or remember that it is there?

THE bootleggers take their hundreds of millions. Get-rich-quick schemers take a thousand millions every year from the people of the United States.

A practical politician of New York's Fourth Ward might well say:
"The people are there to be robbed worth 45 cents, instead of 75 cents a bushel. And the farmer has lost $100,000,000.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S father died practically penniless. Just before he died he bequeathed to his son the farm on which the President was born. Will the government undertake to collect a tax on that gift from father to son? Probably not, as the value of the farm is very small. But how preposterous is the suggestion that fathers should be taxed for giving property rightfully to their own children, or to the mother of those children! When will that silly tax be repealed?

Men-- Here Are Spring's Newest Oxfords

The style is in the toe and the quality built into the shoe.
A typical value featured by us. Extreme flexibility and unusually fine leather are two of the many features of the shoe. Come in and examine these fine values—

Ralston, $7.50 to $10.00

Others for $5.00

The Friendly Five—They Shine.

EASTER SUNDAY, APRIL 4th

Wilder's "MEN'S WEAR"

— SEE WINDOW DISPLAY —

Fattens, Gives Energy, Costs Less Saves Almost Half the Feed Bill-- Use more for Horses and Mules as well as for Cows.

Use and Save

Use More

Cottonseed Meal AND HULLS

Safe and economical for horses, mules, cattle, poultry and sheep.

Be sure to talk
it over with us.
Come in!

GET OUR BOOKLET ON COTTONSEED MEAL FEEDING

Feed two pounds of Cottonseed Meal and five pounds of Cottonseed Hulls daily to horses and mules and reduce their grain rations accordingly.

Home Oil Mill, or Southern Cotton Oil Company

ALBANY-DECATUR, ALA.

SOCIETY

Margaret C. Shelton—Phone Decatur 362.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

WEDNESDAY

Music Study Club, Mrs. L. A. Hobart.
Married Ladies' Bridge Club, Mrs. J. L. Echols.
Perry Street Rook Club, Mrs. Fred Bailey.

THURSDAY

Thursday Bridge Club, Mrs. Rushing.
Silk Stocking Club, Mrs. Joe Woods.

FRIDAY

Canal Street Rook Club, Mrs. Emmett Himes.
Friday Thirteen, Mrs. C. B. Elliott.
C-Lek Rook Club, Mrs. J. L. Loubenthal.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON HONORING MRS. SMITH'S GUESTS

Mrs. Julia Lewis, of Springfield, Ill., and Mrs. Gordon Bowles, of East St. Louis, Mo., who are the house guests of Mrs. W. R. Smith, inspired the bridge luncheon given on Saturday in their honor by Mrs. M'lton Harvey. Her home, where the lovely affair took place, was decorated with a profusion of gift flowers and on each of the tables, where four guests were seated, was a vase filled with sweet peas and roses.

A very delicious course luncheon was served after which the afternoon hours were spent at bridge. A pretty souvenir was awarded Mrs. W. E. Crawford at the conclusion of games and Mrs. R. H. Wolcott received the consolation on the cut. Mementoes were presented to Mrs. Bowles and Mrs. Lewis.

Luncheon guests of Mrs. Harvey were Mrs. T. A. Bowles, Mrs. J. J. Gunter, Mrs. D. C. Almon and Mrs. S. M. Thompson and those remaining for the bridge game included Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. W. R. Smith, Mrs. W. E. Crawford, Mrs. R. H. Wolcott, Mrs. R. N. Harris, Mrs. R. G. Cortner, Mrs. J. L. Echols, Mrs. T. N. Tidwell, Mrs. Christinger, Mrs. W. M. Voorhies, Mrs. D. S. Echols, Mrs. Henry Davis.

TUESDAY CLUB

A delightful meeting of the Tuesday Club was held at the home of Mrs. H. D. Greer on Tuesday afternoon and she had three supplementary guests, Mrs. Frank Lide, Mrs. Allen Wallace and Mrs. Garner Pride. The delicious refreshments were served after the presentation of the bridge prizes to Mrs. Ernest Morrow and Mrs. Lide.

Miss Frances Burt is taking a three months course at Florence Normal.

Miss Christine Reeves, who has been confined to bed several days with flu is improved today.

Jack McCulloch, who has been ill with pneumonia, is slowly improving.

Mrs. A. B. Murphree of Leighton Ala., has returned home after spending several days with her sister, Mrs. I. G. Safley.

Mrs. G. E. McCulloch and Mrs. E. L. McCulloch and children are able to be up after an attack of flu.

Mrs. H. L. Moore of Moulton is expected today and will spend the remainder of the week with her sister, Mrs. K. F. Emens.

Miss Elizabeth Pettus of Huntsville arrived on Friday to spend a few days with Mrs. Morgan Stickney.

Reed Rogers spent Tuesday in Nashville.

Mrs. Irene Hobbs of Huntsville is visiting her sister, Mrs. Will Brannon.

Mrs. Charner Lanier and Miss Daisy Crawford spent Monday and Tuesday shopping in Birmingham.

Mrs. John C. Bragg is suffering an attack of pneumonia at her apartment on Grant street.

Barton Morris has returned to Birmingham after a visit to his parents Rev. and Mrs. M. N. Morris at Truitt.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Goodlett of Moulton are shoppers in the Cities today.

Mrs. S. D. Johnson and daughter Gertrude left Monday for a visit to points in North Carolina.

Mrs. Mary Wise of Flint spent Tuesday in Albany.

Thomas Pointer of New Albany, Ind., is here to attend the funeral of his grandfather, Charles L. Price.

Little Marion Boswell is recuperating from a severe cold.

Mrs. W. L. Grimes and son, will arrive next week to spend a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis.

PEGGY PARRY TALKS BEAUTY

"A pretty girl without a pretty foot is like a ship without an anchor," says Peggy of "Abie's Irish Rose" company, at the Princess to-night and Thursday. "An attractive foot is not necessarily a small one. Few young women know how to get their shoes to fit properly. The most important thing is to see that the sole extends out farther than the ball of the foot. This gives comfort and enables one to wear a high heel. This necessitates a high instep, which is very easily developed. The instep is nothing more than muscles controlling the forward part of the foot. Any muscle can be developed."

You will notice that every dancer has a high instep; it is developed from constant dancing. I have seen girls, when first beginning in a chorus, who would be almost flat-footed, and in less than two months would have a high instep and a beautiful foot. Ugly feet are an unnecessary evil. I do not know of anything more distasteful than to see a woman, handsomely gowned, exhibit a homely foot, and you know this is very often done. Another thing—a great many girls spoil their feet by wearing slippers without heels for house wear. This is a bad habit. A house slipper should always have a heel. It need not be a high heel, but it should be high.

Other things—a great many girls spoil their feet by wearing slippers without heels for house wear. This is a bad habit. A house slipper should always have a heel. It need not be a high heel, but it should be high.

Peggy Parry, who plays the role of Rosie—many times a bride—in "Abie's Irish Rose," Anne Nichols' famous comedy. At the Princess Theatre, Albany, Wednesday and Thursday, March 24th and 25th.

than the front part of the shoe, so as to keep the heel higher than the ball of the foot, and not lengthen the tendons. A pretty foot can easily be developed and it is not necessary for a girl to be a dancer."

Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl in my teens and love a young man two years my senior. Another girl a year or two older than I love him also. He seems to care for us both but not to say great words.

JEALOUS: I am afraid I cannot give you any "receipt" for fostering love, my dear. It is an emotion which must come naturally and of itself. But you can foster friendship, if you wish. If you share the tastes and interests of this young man, and you are congenial, your friendship should grow by leaps and bounds. But don't attempt to force love. It can't be "did."

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: There is a young lady whom I want to get acquainted with, and I think that she would like to get acquainted with me, but we have not been introduced yet.

IN DOUBT: I am afraid you will kill this acquaintance right now if you invite the young lady to go riding with you when you have never been formally introduced. I suggest that you seek some mutual friend to present you, and then you can shower her with attentions if you choose.

Other members crowded toward the disputants. Representative Khimblom, republican of Illinois, presiding, was preparing to have the house pass upon the language used by O'Connor, but Blanton withdrew the objection.

LOST!

Fire Insurance Policies

Policies Nos. 228801 to 228850 inclusive, have been lost or misplaced and if held by anyone, they have not been issued in the proper way and should be returned to Penney & Whitman or to the office of the Company.

PENNEY & WHITMAN

Albany, Alabama
J. G. Pepper, Manager,
Star Insurance Company of America, New Orleans, La.

Coats and Dresses

Just received from N. Y.

Miss Royer is in New York and sent these beautiful Spring designs.

— Prices: —

$13.95

— TO —

$24.95

SHOES

Blonde Kid and Black Satin

The Royer Shop

Producer Lays Blame For Sex Theme In Plays To The Doors Of Inland Visitors

(Associated Press)

CETROIT March 24—Certain kinds of visitors from interior cities and towns are responsible for the vulgar sex plays are enjoying on Broadway in the opinion of Jesse Bonstelle, producer of several New York successes and now operating her own theater here.

"New York is splashed with sex play mazes," Miss Bonstelle said. "It is an epidemic that will pass. Such things perish of themselves of their own vapidity."

"Your New Yorker is no more unhealthy in his tastes for drama than anyone else. He enjoys clean plays and patronizes them. The travelling public, the man in New York for a good time, keeps these sex things going. He wants to see 'naughty' plays. He neglects the clean shows. The 'good' plays, he reasons, will come to his home town and he will see them there because they are the kind he can attend with his wife and daughter."

A play has no chance of New York production, Miss Bonstelle holds, unless it carries across its pages the "Broadway Success" mark. She spoke of Channing Pollock, and his hawking his play, "The Fool," from manager each turning it down because it did not have the Broadway hit mark.

"Don Marquis has written a wonderful thing," she said. "The Dark Hours" it is called, and it deals with the life of Christ. It would be somewhat costly to produce, and producers shy from it as they shy from all plays that have biblical foundations. "Ben Hur" had to have its great chariot race scene or it would not have succeeded. The Parable of the Prodigal Son which was staged under the title, "The Wanderer," needed the big second act, with its touch of Babylonian licentiousness and sex appeal, to make it go over."

Miss Bonstelle disagrees with several playwrights who pretend to see the salvation of the drama in the "Little Theater" movement. Invariably, she said, these groups become cliques and snobbishness develops, offsetting whatever possibilities the Little Theater might hold for good.

CASE REVERSED

The Alabama court of appeals has handed down the following decision: Oscar Marion vs. state, Morgan County, reversed and remanded.

Top-Dressing Talk No. 3

"What makes cotton grow?"

Clemson College supplies the answer

AUTHORITIES at Clemson College, South Carolina, wanted to determine once and for all just what makes cotton grow.

Here's what they did.

They conducted sixteen separate experiments for from one to three years each. A specific amount of fertilizer was used for the plots on each farm, except that the amount of ammonia was varied from 2 to 10 per cent.

And here are the results they got. Study the figures—they tell the story.

Percent of ammonia in fertilizer mixture
0 2% 3% 4% 5% 6% 8% 10%
Yield in lbs. of seed cotton per acre
670 945 1035 1103 1170 1191 1303 1447
(See S. C. Exp. Sta. Bulletin No. 219)

Easy to see how the increase in ammonia increased the yield of cotton. Easy to find the answer to the question, "What makes cotton grow?" . . . Ammonia!

Try it yourself. We'll send you free, enough Arcadian Sulphate of Ammonia to fertilize 25 square feet of soil. Mail the coupon.

ARCADIAN Sulphate of Ammonia

THE BARRETT COMPANY, AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

602 Forsyth Building, Atlanta, Ga.

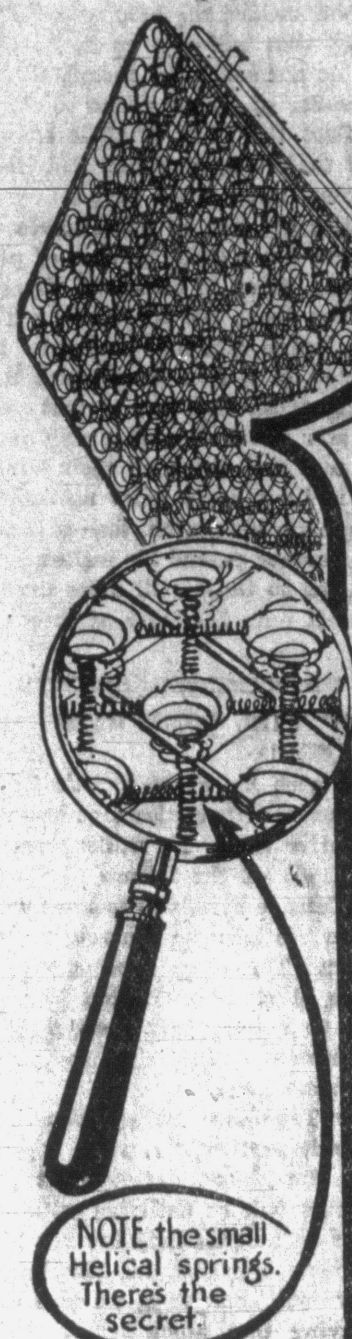

THE BARRETT COMPANY, 602 Forsyth Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Please send me sample package of Arcadian Sulphate of Ammonia. I am especially interested in (Write name of crop on line above) and wish you to send me bulletins on these subjects.

Name

Address

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR PERFECTION

Superflex

A Quality Spring of Utmost Comfort

108 Coils of Comfort!

Almost twice as many as in the average spring.

That makes Superflex twice as comfortable.

And note! Between each coil are sensitive helical springs, which make it super-flexible.

PERFECTION

Mattresses and Springs
Make sleep restful

Sleep to Perfection on a "Perfection"

Perfection Mattresses and Springs

For Sale By

Morgan Furniture Co.

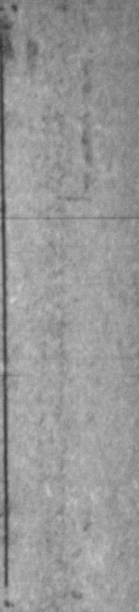

DAILY WANT ADS ARE NOW ACCEPTED BY TELEPHONE

Telephone Your Wants to Albany 46

Carrier subscribers residing in Albany or Decatur may now phone their want ads to The Daily office and carrier boy will collect. A collection fee of 5 cents per want ad is charged when phoned in.

TILLIE THE TOILER

By Russ
Westover

Rates for Daily Classified Ads

25 words or less, 1 time.....$.25
25 words or less, 3 times.....$.50
25 words or less, 6 times.....$1.00

Each word over 25: 1 time, 1c; 3 times, 2c; 6 times, 4c.
A collection charge of 5c per ad is made when phoned in.

CLOSING TIME, 10:30 A. M.

Classified advertisements received after 10:30 a.m. will not be published until the next day.

TRY A 3 OR 6-TIME AD

It costs proportionately less and produces more.

FOR RENT—1608, 1720, 1722, 1820 1822, 1824, 5th South, 640 Jackson 1718, 8th So. Austinville near railroad, Austinville 110, 3rd south. G and see these. J. A. Thornhill.

WANTED—Real estate listings of dwellings. Have three good prospects now. Deeds mortgages written, loans negotiated, rentals, collections. J. A. Thornhill.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Gray Lloyd Loom baby stroller, with detachable top. Practically new. Will sell reasonable. Phone Albany 127. 24-3t

FOR SALE—A lot of engines and boilers for gins and sawmills. Terms to suit. Jervis Foundry and Machine Co, Decatur, Ala. 23-tf

FOR SALE—Hay in any quantities one bale or a car. Prices below the market. Phone Decatur 158. W. E. Lynne. 24-3t

FOR SALE—Stable manure fertilizer. Phone Twin City Transfer company, Decatur 40. 5-tf

FOR SALE—Best bargain in Albany for quick sale, 407 9th street South. 8 rooms equipped for two families—window shades, stove to heat entire house furnished. Large barn, two garages. J. B. Murphree, Phone Albany 423-J. 24-3t

Typewriters, Two No. 5 late model Underwoods for sale, cash or terms. Decatur Furniture Co. 119 West Church street. 22-4t

FOR SALE—Windshields, any cars by C. E. Malone. 27-tf

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Nice comfortable bed rooms with or without meals. Furnace heat, continuous hot water, good location. 214 Walnut street. 19-8t

FOR RENT OR SALE—Five room bungalow; modern conveniences; 202 6th ave, West, Decatur. Call Chas. Rountree, Rountree Lumber Co., Albany 103. 24-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Middle aged woman to act as companion. Address "C" Care Daily. 23-3t

WANTED—Two sales ladies for an article every lady of refinement wants. Something new. Phone 426L2 for appointment. 22-3t

WANTED—Veal calves, live or dressed, highest market price. A. Bernstein. Mar. 4-1 mo.

WANTED—Paper hanger at 316 West Water street, W. E. Lynne. 24-tf

WANTED—To see and talk with all unemployed men in Decatur who really want to do something. Will be at 316 West Water street, Decatur, March 25, 26 and 27. Also have a proposition for a man with means. W. E. Lynne. 24-3t

LADIES—We will pay straight 40c an hour for advertising and distributing samples to every home and office. Send self addressed stamped envelope, Denison, Beckel Bldg. R1 Dayton, Ohio. 24-1t

MISCELLANEOUS

ursing wanted by trained nurse. Call Albany 469-J. 22-3t

By Buick 6 closed car for sale guaranteed first class mechanical condition. A real bargain. D. C. Adams. 9-4t

Special for Saturday, March 27th We offer for the above date 100 Durham Duplex safety razors with one blade at the almost give away price of 25c. If you do not get one of these razors you will miss the greatest bargain ever offered. Hughes and T. Dwell, Moulton Street Albany. 24-3t

Feed Gypsy Dairy feed. For more milk at less cost. A trial will convince you. Ask your grocer. Manufactured by Decatur Mill and Elevator Co. Decatur Ala.

DE • CE

Prompt Delivery
Phone for food
It's the Better Way

COLD Grip
OLDS

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets

Serious illness and complications often follow an ordinary Cold. Check it; use the old Reliable, Safe and Proven Remedy, "Laxative BROMO QUININE." The First and Original Cold and Grip Tablet. Proven Safe for more than a Quarter of a Century.

The box bears this signature
E. W. Brown
Price 80c.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR SHERIFF

We are authorized to announce B. E. Isbell as a candidate for Sheriff of Morgan County, Ala., subject to the action of the democratic primary August 10th, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by B. E. Isbell, Falkville, Ala.)

We are authorized to announce Asa M. Lentz as a candidate for Sheriff of Morgan County, Ala., subject to the action of the democratic primary, Aug. 10th, 1926.

(Paid political advertising, authorized by Asa M. Lentz, Decatur, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce Tennis S. Sparkman as a candidate for Sheriff of Morgan County, Ala., subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10th, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by Tennis S. Sparkman, Austinville, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce B. E. Davis as a candidate for sheriff of Morgan County, Alabama, subject to the action of the democratic primary August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertisement authorized by B. E. Davis, Falkville, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of D. Luther Ryan, Albany, Ala., for the office of sheriff of Morgan County, Ala., subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by D. Luther Ryan, Albany, Ala.)

COUNTY SOLICITOR

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of Wade Wright for the office of Solicitor of the Morgan County court of Morgan county, Ala., subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by Wade Wright, Albany, Ala.)

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of T. C. Almon for county solicitor of Morgan County, subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

(Paid political advertising authorized by T. C. Almon, Albany, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of W. H. Long, Decatur, Ala., for the office of Solicitor of the Morgan County court, Morgan County, Ala., subject to the action of the Democratic primary August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by W. H. Long Decatur, Ala.)

FOR CIRCUIT SOLICITOR

We are hereby authorized to announce John E. McEachin as a candidate for Circuit Solicitor of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 10th, 1926.

(Paid political advertising, authorized by John E. McEachin, Huntsville, Ala.)

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of John R. Sample of Hartsell as a candidate for solicitor of the eighth judicial circuit, subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

(Paid political advertising authorized by John R. Sample, Hartselle, Ala.)

BOARD OF REVENUE

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of Frank J. Davis for member of the board of revenue from first district of Morgan County, Alabama, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by Frank J. Davis, Decatur, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of James A. Forman as a member of the board of revenue from the first district of Morgan County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary August 10, 1926.

(Paid Political Advertising authorized by James A. Forman, Albany, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of W. H. Smith Town Creek, Ala., for the office of state senator from the Second Senatorial district, composed of Morgan and Lawrence counties, Ala., subject to the action of the democratic primary August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by W. H. Smith, Town Creek, Ala.)

The Daily is authorized to announce the candidacy of W. B. McCulloch for the board of revenue, as representative from the first district, subject to the action of the Democratic primary August 10.

(Paid political advertising, authorized by W. B. McCulloch, Albany, Ala.)

TAX COLLECTOR

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for tax collector, Morgan County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 10, Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

(Paid political advertising authorized by Hodges Crow, Albany, Ala.)

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for tax collector of Morgan County, subject to the action of the democratic primary August 10, 1926. Your vote and influence will be appreciated. D. A. Slone.

(Paid political advertising authorized by D. A. Slone, Hartselle, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce John T. Kyle as a candidate for the office of tax collector of Morgan County subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by John T. Kyle, Hartselle, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce J. H. Hill as a candidate for the office of Tax Collector of Morgan county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertisement, authorized by J. H. Hill, Albany, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of E. T. Giers for the office of Tax Collector, Morgan County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by E. T. Giers, Valhermosa Springs Alabama.)

We are hereby authorized to announce A. M. Dunaway as a candidate for the office of Tax Collector, Morgan County, subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by A. M. Dunaway, Hartselle, Ala.)

STATE LEGISLATURE

We are hereby authorized to announce J. N. Powell, Falkville, Ala., as a candidate for the state legislature from Morgan County, Ala., subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political Advertising authorized by J. N. Powell, Falkville, Ala.)

REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the legislature from Morgan County, Alabama subject to the action of the democratic primary to be held on the 10th day of August, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by B. L. Malone of Albany Ala.)

TAX ASSESSOR

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of Herman O. Troup for the office of tax assessor of Morgan county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising, authorized by Herman O. Troup, Albany, Ala.)

ASTHMA
No cure for it, but welcome relief is often brought by VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

Rheumatic Pains Quickly Stopped

Torture Ends Five Minutes After First Application of White Wonder! No Drugs

No matter how bad your rheumatism may be, you will get immediate relief by using White Wonder, the new penetrative treatment which combines three ingredients endorsed by doctors in a highly penetrative cream which carries soothing medication direct to tortured nerves, easing the strain and bringing quick relief from the agonizing pains. White Wonder is the result of years of medical knowledge in treating rheumatism by the penetrative method and bears the endorsement of thousands of users who have gained freedom from acute pain by its use. Get White Wonder from your druggist today—unless it gives you immediate relief, he will refund your money! Write the White Wonder Chemical Co., Dept. 10, Montgomery, Ala., and they will mail you a liberal free sample.

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of I. M. (Mack) Murphree, Albany, Ala., for the office of Tax Assessor of Morgan County, Ala., subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political advertising authorized by I. M. Murphree, Albany, Ala.)

We are hereby authorized to announce the candidacy of C. C. Robertson for tax assessor of Morgan County, subject to the action of the democratic primary August 10. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

(Paid political advertising authorized by C. C. Robertson, Albany, Ala.)

FOR STATE SENATOR

To the Voters of Lawrence and Morgan Counties:

We are authorized to announce R. E. Coburn as a candidate for the office of State Senator from Lawrence and Morgan counties, subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 10, 1926.

(Paid political Advertisement by R. E. Coburn, Courtland, Ala.)

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

When You Need Job Printing Of The Better Kind, Call Albany 46.

DAILY BUSINESS DIRECTORY

Your advertisement here is a constant ready reference.

RATES—$7.50 per column inch per month.

AUTOS—SERVICE

LIDE'S
1 EXCHANGE
140 SERVICE
INSTANT OIL

CLEM STORAGE GARAGE

We Do General Repair Work On All Cars.
Batteries Recharged and Repaired.
Fisk Tires. Phone 18 Decatur Old Lyceum Bldg.

Phone 111 For Road Service
TIRE SERVICE STATION 1st Ave. & Moulton St.

DRIVE-IT-YOURSELF FORDS

Batteries Recharged and Repaired
We Repair, Wash and Grease Cars
DECATUR STORAGE GARAGE
Phone 211 Opposite Hilda Hotel

GRISSOM & JONES RENT-A-FORD

GENERAL REPAIR
Satisfaction Guaranteed
Phone Albany 45 Grant St.

BEAUTY PARLORS

On account of the revival meeting now in progress at Central Methodist Church, Moye's Barber Shop will close at 7 o'clock. Please come early and let us serve you and see you at church later.—MOYE'S SHOP, A. L. Moye, Prop.

Market Reports

(Furnished by E. T. Gray and Sons)

POULTRY MARKET
Hens 20 cents
Friers 20 to 22 cents
Stags 10 cents
Ducks 12 cents
Geese 10 cents
Eggs 20 cents
Cocks 7 cents
Guineas 20 cents each Turkeys 20 cents

Furnished by Williamson, Inman and Stribling
Local Sp ts
Middling 17:50
Strict Middling 18:00
Strict Low 17:00
Low 14:50

Colds
Broken in a day
Hill's act quickly—stop colds in 24 hours. Fever and headache disappear. Grippe is conquered in 3 days. Every winter it saves millions danger and discomfort. Don't take chances, don't delay an hour. Get the best help science knows.
All druggists
CASCARA & QUININE
Get Red Box with portrait

Acme Wall Plaster
The Best There Is Decatur Coal & Mfg. Co.
Phone Decatur 76

BUILDERS

ARCHITECTS

Harry J. Frahn Company, Inc.
Main Offices:

Sheffield (Muscle Shoals) Alabama
Reliable architectural services on all classes of buildings, any size. Over 1000 satisfied clients in Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky; 15 years practice and four million in work erected.

MONUMENTS

MEMORIALS

Sandblast Lettering and Carving Southern Stone & Marble Co.
12 Moulton St.

REAL ESTATE

List Your For Sale Real Estate With Me

B. D. MEADORS
Decatur, Ala.

PLUMBING

GOODE PLUMBING & HEATING CO.

Dependable work moderately priced. Ask for estimate.
Standard Plumbing Fixtures
212 Johnston St. Phone Albany 610

H. MULLEN

Plumbing
Steam and Hot Water Heating Experienced and Reliable
Phone 64. 222 Grant St.

WILLIAMS
OIL-MATIC
HEATING

Installed by Abel Bros.
Plumbing & Heating Co.
Albany, Ala.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system. Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions! Boils dry up! S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it. Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

Crating! Crating!

WE HAVE A MAN WHO KNOWS HOW
All work guaranteed
MORGAN FURNITURE CO.

They are curing insanity with golf but nobody has yet discovered anything to cure golf with.

The doctors say that women are too weak for housework and as the men are not strong for it, what are we going to do with it?

The secret in feeling well is in light eating. A trial will convince the most skeptical.

Nothing makes time hike along at a good gait like having a note in the bank coming due.

It has been said that ignorance is bliss, but that doesn't apply to business.

Postscripts
 'Tis true that you Do view our Lou
 She drank some Antiquated brew.

Poor John was caught
 Out in the rain.
 He died of water
 On the brain.

Some fool went hunting for a hare
 And when he shot
 Poor Frank was there

Here lies the dust
 Of Johnny Shiver
 He once drove a Flivver.

Another good thing about telling the truth is you don't have to remember what you say.

Victor: "What color is the best for a bride?"
 Lowman: "I prefer a white one myself"

Tune To The Right
 The following is an order mailed to a prominent piano company.
 "Dear sir, Please send me by mail a string for my piano. Have the string tuned to G, before you send it as my husband can put it in, but he can't tune it. Mrs. X. P. S. It's the G on the right side of the piano."

The uplifters are at their work busily twenty-four hours a day, but the only things ever really uplifted are prices.

"Can't you find someone," pleads a reader, "who will invent a union suit with four corners all alike, one that a fellow may put on in the dark without his arms and lower limbs getting mixed?"

The stone age was a good old age
 When man had pep and vim
 Each time he wanted a new wife
 He axed her to marry him.

Some marry in haste and get divorced in like manner so's they can use their leisure in getting married again.

"How do I stand with you?" said the youth to his dancing teacher.

Artists are born not paid.

He thinks a shamrock is a fake diamond.

Yes, Lucille, every barber we know is a head barber. Did you ever see and other kind?

Compensations To Go To Many Lands

(Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, March 24—Two thousand native veterans or Uncle Sam's dependents or their beneficiaries are receiving from the Veteran's Bureau compensation due them for services in the World War.

There are in these possessions, 2,080 persons receiving either death or disability compensations and 651, either death or disability insurance.

The Philippines leads the list of dependencies with 517 disability and 387 death cases for which the injured or their dependents are now receiving compensation. The Canal Zone is last with only four disability cases. Porto Rico has 336 disability and 323 death cases being cared for; Hawaii seventy-three disability and thirty-five death cases and Virgin Islands two disability and four death cases.

Porto Rico, with 205 has the highest number receiving insurance money.
 The Philippines are second with 185
 Hawaii has eighty four and Guam and Panama each have eight.

TRY A DAILY WANT AD
 TRY A DAILY WANT AD

Somerville News

Audrey Garrison, a student at the University of Alabama spent the weekend here with his parents.

Rev. J. S. Martin and son Miles were visitors at Henry Lyle's Satur- day.

Mike Breeding and family of Al- bany visited her mother, Mrs. Sharp Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Lois Black was the guest of Miss Inez Oden for the weekend.

Mrs. George Brindley and children, Mrs. Brad Huie and children with Miss Elva Brindley of Hartselle spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Tom Wade and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Winton with Misses Emma Harlan and Mary Parker at- tended the singing at Antioch Sun- day evening.

The play, "Rustic Club" given by the P. T. A. was well attended by an appreciative audience. A nice sum was realized which will go for school improvement and to extend the school.

Roy Luker of Woodland Mills was here Sunday with friends.

Misses Blanche Winton, Vellie Elam and Roy Luker attended the singing at Antioch Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Simpson of Albany visited her sister Mrs. Tom Wade Sunday afternoon.

Clyde Maybell and two children spent several hours here Saturday with relatives. Mr. Mayhall was on his way to Athens on business.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Peck of Flor- ette visited Mrs. Mary Peck and Dr. Peck Sunday.

Miss Aply Barclay, a student nurse of the Benevolent hospital at Albany attended the play given by the school here Saturday night.

Miss Leona Waugh of Hartselle re- turned home Monday after a visit with Mrs. N. E. Winton.

Rev. McGlawn delivered a fine and interesting sermon at the Methodist church here Sunday morning, his text being "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God."

Ed Price and Rev. McGlawn were guests Sunday of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Martin.

Lyle and Buford Hough spent Sun- day here with relatives.

Mrs. Lula Wade returned to her home in Albany after a weeks visit with Mrs. Tom Wade and Mrs. R. C. Miller.

Mrs. J. R. Crosthwaite and children of Moulton visited her father Satur- day and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howell of Moulton spent Saturday night and Sunday with her father, R. H. Sample.

John Sample of Hartselle visited relatives here Sunday.

HERBINE The Vegetable Tonic
 For Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Torpid Liver, Indigestion and Constipation
 Price 60c per bottle. Sold by CADDELL DRUG CO.

SPORTS

L. & N.-Y Ball Team Starts Practice Thursday Afternoon at Malone Park

A Louisville and Nashville Y. M. C. A. combination baseball team will take the field Thursday afternoon at Malone Park, just so soon as the shop boys get off from work and are able to amble down to Malone Park.

Thus has the first indication of an organized effort for baseball crystalized.

The Louisville and Nashville lads gathered at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening for a conference and determined upon the selection of J. F. (Slim) Odom as manager, with Ed Howe, assistant manager and S. E. Arvidson as secretary. A baseball committee composed of W. A. Wise, R. M. Richardson, E. C. Ryan and W. M. Jennings was selected and will start functioning immediately in business affairs for the outfitting and equipping of the local team.

Under the present plan the L. & N. Y combination will play other Louis- ville and Nashville teams and will journey to distant towns to take on

GOLD PROSPECTORS DYING AWAY LIKE THE "GHOST CITIES"

(Associated Press)
 DENVER, March 23—The "Cousin Jacks," the prospectors after gold are passing. Hardly a week now goes by but word comes down that another has been found dead in a rotting cabin in the "ghost cities" that dot the high country of Colorado and the mining west.

The towns, many of them, are dying too. Once well worn streets are grass grown, and pack rats haunt the buildings.

Decay—a sort of dry rot—has overtaken them. Doors creak mournfully in the breezes or grumble at a mountain gale, sunshine and rain pour alike through gaping holes in roofs and the skeletons of houses are outlined through walls bared by storms.

The name "ghost cities" is apt, descriptive in the direct way of the names of the old camps; Crested Butte, Bald Mountain and Crazy Woman ranch were all named Indian fashion for obvious reasons. Down in the southern part of Colorado, there is even a Cannibal plateau, so called because a guide named Parker charged parties of hunters and tourists high rates and then ate them. The graves of some of his victims may be seen today.

The names now linger in memory, but most of the bonanza mines are flooded or caved in. Scientific methods have supplanted the old time prospector and Colorado is talking about a new kind of mining boom in deep ores.

Central City is perhaps the most striking example of the change. Thirty years ago it boasted a population of 12,000. Today there are approximately 500 persons there, and the place has fallen from a booming city to a sleepy, though hopeful village.

President Grant and his daughter visited Central City and the residents paved the sidewalks from the street to the old Teller House with gold. The Teller House, a four story building, is one of the few things in the town that attempts to keep up an air of prosperity. A few travelers stop there and some mining men make it their home.

Most of the other buildings are deserted. Saloon signs hang over the streets and are legible. In one of the dance halls, the proprietors did not capital letters to a large part of the nation. They were built with infinite labor and money, the materials often being hauled for miles over treacher- ous mountain trails. Most of them were too inaccessible to make razing the buildings and shipping the lum- ber out practical. So they are left to rot.

*If you want what you want when you want it—in the printing line—
WE HAVE IT!*

Blessed With Beauty and Cursed With a Conscience

Miss Nobody

—She's

Somebody you'll want to know

READ HER STORY

BEGINNING

TOMORROW

IN THE DAILY

About Taking Chances

American railroads are striving to reduce the number of accidents, both among their employes and the public generally.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad employs approximately 52,000 people; about 45,000 of these are employed in hazardous occupations, and it is a matter of pride on the part of this Railroad to state that the number of injuries and fatalities per year is constantly being reduced.

In the year 1923 there were 4,303 injuries among L. & N. employes, with 60 fatalities. During the year 1925 there was a reduction to 2,852 injuries, or one-third, and to 44 fatalities, or one-fourth.

In 1925 the L. & N. handled over 10,400,000 passen- gers an average distance of about 70 miles, without a single fatality, and with only 9 persons injured, in train accidents. In fact, as convincing evidence of the L. & N.'s remarkable safety record, there has not been a passenger killed in a train accident in the past six years, notwithstanding it has handled over 80,000,000 passengers an average distance of about 60 miles.

Safety devices of every sort are employed in this Company's shops and on every mile of track.

The American railroads are preaching and practic- ing "Safety First." Let everybody help.

CLOSING OUT

All Our Kitchen Maid KITCHEN CABINETS

—at—a special discount.

MORGAN FURNITURE
CO.

Studebaker

saves you axle-builders' profits

Studebaker builds all its own Axles

That's what One-Profits means

HALSEY - HURSTON

MOTOR CO., Inc.

Distributors
—Decatur Branch—
D. D. BURLESON, Mgr.
Phone Decatur 314

FOR SALE

Two Slightly used

HIGHLANDS RANGES
THREE BLUE RIBBON RANGES.

Will sell at a bargain.
MORGAN FURNITURE
CO.